Bonspiel Visitors Enjoyed Five Days of Keen Competition

Coleman Rinks Have Winning Streak and Three Trophies Remain—McLeod Wins 2 Competitions—D'Appolonia Gr. Chal.

Grand Aggregate, Cranbrook

Won by Veteran "Bill" Cameron, Who Won 13 of 17 Games Played During 'Spie'

Items from the local newspapers of towns whence came the visiting curlers for last week's bonspiel, pay a compliment to Coleman curling club as the hosts for the annual gathering of the Crows Nest Pass Curling Association, of which H.C. McBurney was the president.

Splendid publicity and news service was given by the Lethbridge Herald in its daily reports, and it was considered of sufficient importance to induce Harold Long, editor-in-chief of The Herald, to play on the Lethbridge rink and to cover the entire event.

One of the high-lights as seen by The Journal observer was the game on Friday afternoon, when D'Appolonia of Coleman and Kerr of Bellevue were playing the final in the Grand Challenge. It was a

The Coleman Journal.

Dear Sirs:—
On behalf of the Cameron rink of which I was a member, and the Cranbrook Curling Club, of which I have the honor to be vice president, I wish to thank the members of the Coleman Curling Club for the very courteous treatment extended while we had the privilege of taking part in your bonspiel.

I wish particularly to mention two very courteous officers, namely, Mr. McBurney, president of the Crows Nest Curling Association, and Mr. Harold A. Reid, bonspiel secretary.

We were fortunate enough to be very strongly in the running and, consequently, though drawn against local rinks in the finals, were given a very courteous and friendly reception by the hundreds of spectators who watched our games being played. We understood that, naturally, the sympathies of the spectators would be in favor of our home town rinks, but we must say that they were very courteous all ways, whether we won or lost.

We are all looking forward to visiting your town again at the first opportunity when the Crows Nest 'Spie' is held there.

Thanking you in anticipation of your giving this letter space in your paper, I am close game throughout, and at the eleventh end Kerr was 14, D'Appolonia 13. Interest was very keen, and both sides of the ice were thronged with tensely interested spectators, who hardly dared breathe as the skips made their final shots. D'Appolonia had the final shot and scored two, which brought a cheer of delight from all who had been watching, and they thronged on to the ice to congratulate the winner. The Bellevue rink were good sports, and took their point by the narrow margin of one point with characteristic sporting grace.

Jack McLeod won the International competition against Cameron of Cranbrook, gaining an easy victory by a score of 16-5 at the eighth end, when Cameron decided to quit. His rink had played a stiff four days, averaging four games daily, but they had the honor of winning the Grand Aggregate and the Lethbridge Brewery competition, the latter being played in the finals against another Cranbrook rink, that of McPhee. McLeod also won the Trites-Wood cup, playing off (Continued on Page Eight)

Burns' Anniversary Honored by Coleman Caledonian Society

Splendid Gathering of Scottish People Attends Affection For Famous National Poet of World Renown

Played in by Piper Penman, and carried triumphantly around the hall by Archie McCulloch, the traditional ceremonial of "Bringing in the Haggis" was enthusiastically honored at the Burns anniversary gathering inaugurated by Coleman Caledonian Society. David Gillespie, the president, gave the toast to the Haggis, and valiantly plunged his dagger into it with the ferocity of a Scottish chieftain finishing his deadly enemy.

Following the blessing by Rev. A. E. Larke, the excellent supper elicited praise on all sides, and 180 visitors enjoyed the splendid program which followed, under the chairmanship of Mr. George Kellock, formerly of the ancient kingdom of Fife.

The toast to "The King" was given by Mr. Larke; "The Immortal Memory" by Mr. John Kerr, of Passburg, whose finished address on the toast of the evening indicated deep study of Scottish lore and held the gathering intensely interested for almost half an hour.

"The Lassies," responded to by Mr. Alex. Cameron, and "The Homeland," responded to by Mr. Robert Holmes, were received with interest, Mr. Holmes taking his hearers for an imaginary trip through the historic districts of Scotland.

The chairman, in his address, remarked on the impress Scotland had made in Canada, for Scottish place names were to be found from coast to coast and from the Arctic to the International boundary, prominent among them being Nova Scotia, Fort Garry, the Fraser and Mackenzie Rivers, Fort Simpson, and many others.

The program included the chorus, sung by the company, "There was a Lad Was Born in Kyle," songs by Mrs. D. McLennan, Rev. A. E. Larke, Mrs. J. Ramsey, William Smith, comic songs by Archie McCulloch, readings by Mr. Robert Holmes, violin solos by Wm. Blyth, "A Scotch Sermon" by David Gillespie, Scottish dances by Miss M. Ramsey, Miss M. Blyth played the accompaniments.

Following the supper, the dance opened with the Grand March, headed by President and Mrs. Gillespie, and it was not until 4 a.m. that a very lively evening was brought to a close. Many guests were present from other towns in the Pass, who spoke in highly complimentary terms of the fine style in which the local society had entertained them.

Convictions Quashed

The appeals of Adam Youschuk and Vincent Janostak against convictions against them by Police Magistrate Gresham for alleged theft of hay from Mike Anderchuk were allowed by the Court of Appeal and the convictions quashed. The Court unanimously came to the conclusion that there was no evidence to justify a conviction in either case. D. G. Mackenzie, K. O., and R. F. Barnes acted for the successful appellants.

International Mine Workers Called One-Day-Strike

Discrimination in Allotting Work Cause of Action. Work Resumed This Morning.

Dissatisfaction over alleged an equal distribution of work was the cause of a 24 hour strike on Wednesday. Union pickets were posted at midnight Tuesday and at 7 a.m. Wednesday, and some work was not known of the strike till they went to work, it having only been decided on late Tuesday night. No disorders occurred. A meeting of the workers was held Wednesday afternoon to hear a report of a conference between the committee and company officials, and it is reported that satisfactory arrangements were made, work being resumed as usual this morning.

George Gaseoff, local president, was chairman of the meeting, and Andrew Dow, secretary.

Election of Board of Managers United Church

The annual meeting of St. Paul's United church congregation was held on Monday evening, when the reports of church organizations for 1931 were submitted and enthusiastically received. All indicated that progress had been made in all lines of church endeavor.

Owing to the attendance not being as fully representative as desired, it was decided to hold the annual election of officers following the regular evening service on February 7th.

Following Monday's meeting, a social hour was spent. It is urged that as many as possible attend the election of officials on Sunday, February 7th.

Some Truths and Lessons

It is in times of adversity rather than of prosperity that the true character and strength of men, communities and nations is demonstrated. The world learns few lessons when things are booming and prosperity blossoms on every hand. When the sun shines and soft winds blow people are content to take things as they are. It is when the sun is hidden behind the storm clouds and the tempest rages that men, communities and nations are tested. It is then they begin to learn, bitter though the lessons may be.

Galling as the present world-wide depression undoubtedly is, bringing loss and suffering in its train, it is probably serving a useful purpose in teaching the world a few lessons and re-emphasizing a few old truths, which, in the days of their prosperity, men and nations apparently forgot; at least they ignored and gave no heed to them. Now these truths and lessons are being remembered and re-learned, and possibly, because the present world depression is more widespread and more severe than any of its predecessors, the lessons it is teaching will be taken a bit more seriously and have a more lasting and beneficial effect than ever before.

Yet these truths and lessons are as old as the old world itself. The truths are fundamental; the lessons are stern and unshakable. One truth is that no community, no community, no nation can live into itself alone. Not one of them is self-sufficient. Each is dependent to a greater or less extent on all others. God made the world and puny man, notwithstanding his boasted powers and strength cannot alter it. This truth is becoming more widely recognized and accepted every day this depression lasts. It, and it alone, is driving the resultant lesson home.

Another truth that is once again growing into acceptance is that mankind is of greater worth than anything and everything that man can invent and develop. Man has used his God-given intellect and powers to invent and develop machines primarily intended to be the servants of man, to supply his needs and cater to his comforts and well-being. But in his eagerness to invent, and develop, and create a machine-age—an age that was to be all-golden for him—man has over-reached himself until today, in many ways, the machine has become the master and man the servant.

To serve a machine-age, man has built himself huge cities wherein people live together like rabbits in a warren; packed like sardines in a box. Individuals have largely lost their individuality in the mass, with initiative remaining with the few. The friendliness of the small town and the rural parts has been lost in the great cities where neighbor hardly knows neighbor. That self-respect and self-confidence and initiative inseparable from being a personality amongst one's neighbors has been largely lost in becoming a mere unit in a city's teeming population.

Children grow up today without having enjoyed childhood's rights of a natural life amidst natural surroundings; all about them is artificial, and bred in such surroundings and atmosphere, life itself becomes artificial.

The lesson that the world, perhaps, is beginning to learn is that we must get back to first things, and place them first in our scheme of life. The height of a city man's ambition should not be to amass greater wealth than he can prudently put to good use, and put forth his life's endeavors to making his city larger and larger—not necessarily greater and finer. Many are beginning to realize that the huge city is an evil, not a blessing; that man was not created to live and struggle in such surroundings. That, on the contrary, the small community is by far the happiest and the cheapest place in which to live, and that it confers advantages and pays dividends in health and contentment unknown in huge centres of populations where thousands live from hand to mouth in uncouth surroundings and with little or no prospect of bettering one's conditions.

Economic conditions of this depression have driven hundreds of young men and women, attracted by the glitter of the cities, back to the old home, on the farm, in village and small town. For the time being, because world conditions are what they are, they may be denied many things they would like, but the wisest of them will stay there, and in the long run they will be the happier and better off for the staying.

Paris Police Keep Quiet

Refuse To Give Out Information About Person Leaving Home

If your husband or wife desert you in Paris, it won't do any good to go to the police about it. And that applies to a son or daughter over 21 as well.

For the missing persons' bureau at police headquarters, handling over 25,000 requests a year, keeps the secrets of people who have chosen to leave home.

Suicides, accidental deaths and crime cases are reported at once to the families of the persons concerned, but since the law does not oblige a son, daughter, husband or wife to stay at home unless he or she wants to, all the police will say is "We have located Jules, or Marie, He, or she, is well and happy and does not wish you to know where he, or she, is staying."

Prince Galitzini Flies In Own Airplane

Purchases Fokker "Plane To Travel In Great Bear Lake District"

An intention to stake mining claims in the Great Bear Lake district, scene of recent discoveries of radium and silver ores claimed to be of fabulous richness, is believed to have been behind the purchase by a Russian nobleman recently from Canadian Airways, western lines, of a Fokker airplane, Standard Universal type.

Prince Leo Galitzini, the nobleman in question, now a resident in the Edmonton, Alberta, district, went to Winnipeg one morning in an air mail plane, after flying all night, accompanied by Grant MacConachie, Edmonton-trained commercial pilot.

During the day final arrangements for the purchase of the "plane" were completed, and delivery was expected.

Next morning Prince Galitzini, and his companion, left the Marlborough Hotel, where they had registered, at 6:30 a.m. went to the Canadian Airways' hanger at Stevenson Field, and hopped off for Edmonton with their new possession.

The airplane, whose official title is G-Case, is a sister ship to the well known G-Cask, which has covered many thousands of miles in northern flights, the recital of which has become an epic.

Prince Galitzini, while not a licensed pilot yet, has already completed the greater part of a commercial pilot's training. Rumor has been busy connecting his purchase with an intention to stake mineral claims at Great Bear Lake, but the "prince" would neither confirm nor deny their truth.

"I just want to take some pictures up there," he is heard to say, "and after buying a cabin airplane he is going to stop at picture hunting is a question anybody can take a shot at answering."

Women's Press Club

1932 Convention Is To Be Held In Calgary In June

Every three years the active newspaper women of the Dominion, who form the Canadian Women's Press Club, hold a convention, and in 1932 the meeting will be held in Calgary. Dates for the conference have been set, June 28-30.

The entertainment committee hopes to arrange a motor trip into the country surrounding the prairie city. A short stay at Banff may be arranged. For the business part of the gathering addresses on craft topics will be given by prominent writers and workers from various parts of Canada. It is hoped also that an English writer will be among those on the programme.

Centenarian Women

Six Times As Numerous As Men In Great Britain

There were 104 centenarians drawing old-age pensions in Great Britain on April 25 last.

This is stated in the annual report of the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, issued recently.

Of these 91 were women and 13 men. The oldest of all was a woman born in 1825, and therefore then 106. Another woman was 105, three were 104, and seven were 103. The oldest men were three aged 102. Twelve women had reached that age.

SHE LOST 21 LBS.

And "Feels Full of Life"

Although she is reducing her weight, this woman "feels full of life." So there can't be much wrong with her treatment.

"I was putting on weight, and have been trying to reduce. I have tried lots of things with no result. But four months ago a friend told me about Knechen Salts, and I thought I would give them a trial. I have taken two jars and am pleased to say I have lost 21 lbs. I take a half-teaspoonful in a cup of hot water as soon as I get up. I shall still go on taking them as they make one feel full of life."—Mrs. G. Knechen Salts do not reduce you overnight—like so many products claim to do. But then regularly over a period of time—with a modified diet and gentle exercise, half a teaspoonful of Knechen Salts every morning before breakfast will take away unwholesome fat and restore your figure to its normal shape. You will find your health-build up with a great increase in vigor and energy for you!

Self-Government For Burma

Ramsay MacDonald Offers Plan Tempered With Safeguards

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has offered Burma self-government, but a self-government like that offered India, tempered with safeguards.

As he brought the Burma round-table conference to a close, he urged the need of laying the foundations of the new structure securely and well.

Take as much as is necessary to give your constitution a stamp, he pleaded. The great fabric of British liberty has not been built up by putting the roof on first. Never in history has a people attained at one leap its conception of what it ought to be and where it ought to be.

The proposed constitution for Burma as outlined by the Prime Minister may be summed as:

(1) Burma will be separated from India if separation is approved by the Burmese people.

(2) Burma will be governed by a legislature consisting of two Houses and a Ministry which, with certain qualifications, will be responsible to the legislature.

(3) The Upper House will be partly elected and partly nominated by the governor.

(4) The Lower House, of 120 to 130 members, will be strictly elected, with provision to secure adequate representation for minorities and special interest.

(5) The Ministry will consist of about six, or not more than eight, members appointed by the governor, and collectively responsible to the legislature. In appointing the ministers, the governor should normally seek the advice of the leader of the party commanding the largest following in the Lower House. The governor or will have the right to preside at meetings of the ministry.

(6) Defence and external affairs are reserved for administration by the governor.

(7) Administration of the Shan states and backward tracts is vested in the governor.

(8) The governor should be empowered in the last resort to take steps independent of the legislature to secure the necessary funds for administration of the reserved subjects.

Placing the Blame

The Soviet newspaper "Pravda" asserted editorially that responsibility for the Japanese occupation of Manchuria rests principally with the United States. The editorial laid the United States attitude to the policies of Secretary of State Henry L. ## General Dawes

Retirement As U.S. Ambassador To Britain Is Cause Of Regret

There will be regret that Charles G. Dawes is shortly to retire as United States ambassador to Great Britain and from public life altogether. Mr. Dawes has been a useful figure in international politics of recent years. He has also been a picturesque and likeable type.

Mr. Dawes was a banker and financier when he first came into international prominence, and it is possible that he may return to this field, in his home State of Illinois. He served as a general under General Pershing with the American Expeditionary Force in the Great War, and later, as everyone knows was author of the Dawes plan for German reparations payments—later superseded by the Young Plan, and which plan, in turn, may now be drastically revised or even discarded altogether, in the light of Germany's serious economic position. Next came a turn by Mr. Dawes as President of the United States, and here he found opportunity for some of the plain speaking that has consistently marked his career. General Dawes appeared to enjoy "lecturing" the Senate at Washington.

The retiring ambassador will drop out with very real appreciation of himself at the hands of the British people, of whom he has been an admirer. A year or two ago he went out of his way to publicly praise their achievement in the War and their pluck and honor in the matter of war debt payments. Mr. Dawes indeed was so outspoken on this occasion that if what he said had come from anyone else Washington might have been tempted to regard it as an "insult."—Regina Leader.

A Big Undertaking

U.S. Spending $5,000 To Move Giant Tree

Uncle Sam is paying nearly $5,000 for moving a giant magnolia tree in the Mall at Washington, to prepare for road reconstruction there, in a $100,000 programme for improvement of the Mall.

The magnolia is 36 inches in circumference at breast height and will be moved about 400 feet from its present location near the fill in the Mall, in a northwesterly direction, to near Fourteenth Street. This involves the moving of a disc of earth about 55 feet in diameter and five feet thick, which weighs about 300 tons, in addition to the weight of the tree, not yet estimated.

It is said to be one of the biggest jobs of its kind in the world.

Soviet Oil Production Short

The production of oil in the Soviet Republic in 1931 amounted to 22,300,000 tons, 16 per cent. short of the program for the year, but almost 4,000,000 tons in excess of the 1930 figures.

Ancient Shorthand

System Of Shorthand Writing In Use 200 Years Before Christ

Shorthand symbols are of ancient Roman origin, a recent archeological study has revealed. Romans were widely using a uniform system of shorthand writing 200 years before Christ. Thus states Gino Massano, who has brought to light the full alphabet of ancient Roman shorthand writers. The symbols are, in some respects, similar to those employed today. Several centuries before Christ, when Rome was extending her provinces into every part of the world, the need for speed brought forth several forms of abbreviated writing by symbols which were swiftly adopted for commercial enterprise. Ancient records show most of the accounts and letters of Roman firms were written in shorthand without transcribing, as the recipient was always familiar with the code employed.

Postponement Of Debt Conference Is Urged By French Premier

Paris, France.—Premier Pierre Laval informed United States Ambassador, Walter E. Edge, Saturday, Jan. 16, of France's desire to postpone the Lausanne reparations conference until the European views could be harmonized, it was learned in authentic quarters.

In conversation with the ambassador, the Premier was understood to have said he thought a one-year extension of the Hoover moratorium would be advisable. The moratorium on Germany's reparations payments expires next July. The Lausanne conference of interested nations is tentatively scheduled for January 25.

Premier Laval deemed it to be his duty, he added, to put the United States in touch with the situation. He said he also thought it would be helpful if the European nations could obtain some idea as to the eventual attitude of the United States toward inter-governmental debts in event the moratorium was extended.

The Premier also was believed to have said that France was ready to help Germany in the spirit of the joint statement issued after his talks with President Hoover at Washington. That statement recognized that prior to the expiration of the Hoover year of postponement some agreement regarding inter-governmental debts "may be necessary covering the period of business depression."

It was understood that Premier Laval expressed to Ambassador Edge the opinion that it might be better to hold the reparations conference after the elections to be held in various European countries in the spring, believing this would increase the likelihood of obtaining a more definite solution of the reparations problem.

Hold Meeting By Wireless

Joint Gathering 13,000 Miles Apart Transmits Business

London, England.—While traffic rumbled down Whitehall just after noon, fourteen men, on the second floor of the Board of Trade, held a joint meeting by wireless telephone with a similar gathering in Sydney, Australia.

Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, with representatives of the British Standards Association sat at one end of the wire; at the other were representatives of the Standards Association of Australia.

As the Sydney professor spoke, a paper could be heard rustling on his desk, 13,000 miles away.

Report Not Confirmed

Winnipeg, Man.—Officials at wheat pool headquarters here said they know "nothing about" a report published in the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune that France has agreed to buy 20,000,000 bushels of wheat from Canada. Canadian officials in Paris deny there is any truth in the report.

Declares Britain Will Adhere To A Firm Policy Plan For India

London, England.—"So long as we are responsible for the government of India, we intend to govern," Rt. Hon. Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India, frankly declared during an interview here in which he discussed recent events in India.

He spoke to a large assembly of newsmen, representing many nationalities, gathered at the India office. Now and again as he spoke of the success attending the government's efforts to maintain order he smilingly "touched wood."

In the "red shirt" movement in the northwest provinces; in the no-rent campaign in the United provinces, and in the terrorist campaign in Bengal a challenge had been flung at the government of India which it had to accept, Sir Samuel declared.

"We took the only action any self-respecting government could take," the Secretary of State added. "We took it drastically and we took it all at once."

Bombay, India.—With the government's ordinances still in effect, Nationalist India faces adversity in commerce as a result of the "non-violent"

Condemns Protection Policy

Hon. Mackenzie King Asks Government To Modify Position On Tariff

Winnipeg, Man.—With the declaration that, speaking generally, if returned to power tomorrow the Liberal Party would restore the tariff levels which were in effect when it went out of office, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, condemned the protectionist policy of the present administration. He made a plea for action by members of parliament with a view to securing modification by the government of its position on the tariff in order that the coming Imperial Economic Conference might not prove the "fiasco" which that of 1930 had been.

The Liberal leader spoke at a large banquet which marked the close of the annual meeting of the Manitoba Liberal Association. An enthusiastic reception was accorded him, and at the conclusion of the meeting he was the central figure at an informal gathering where hundreds of those present were introduced.

His speech, first of the new year, contained strong criticism of the government on the ground of waste and extravagance in the conduct of unemployment relief. It demanded why a tariff board had not been appointed. At a time of fluctuating exchanges and depreciated currencies such a board would have been valuable. The legislation had been passed at the last session.

But it was in connection with the railway situation that the Liberal leader voiced his strongest protest. The holding of secret sittings by the commission on transportation which is at present meeting in eastern Canada, he contended in the most definite terms. "What indefensible" was the phrase used by Mr. King in dealing with these secret sittings.

The Canadian National was not to be made "the scapegoat for the condition into which Mr. Bennett's policies have served to bring this country," Dr. King asserted strongly. It must not be caused to "serve the ends of any transportation monopoly in Canada."

Senator Thinks Canada Is Over-Governed

Says There Are Too Many Government Employees

Hamilton, Ont.—Senator George Lynch-Staunton, K.C., declared in an address here there was no reason why people should suffer want "if we lived within our means."

Senator Lynch-Staunton said Canada was over-governed. "The government has interested itself in everything at the people's expense. Parasites swarm everywhere and every fifth person in Canada is the servant of one government or another."

British Economist Says Moratorium "No Good"

German Point Of View Is Very Largely Non-Economic

London, England.—Sir Walter Layton, one of the foremost British economists and part author of the Basic moratorium for German reparations report, declared that a payments would be "no good."

"It is important not to forget that the German point of view that the whole of reparations and war debts should be wiped out is a very largely non-economic."

"Supposing they are all wiped out, somebody is going to pay. If you wipe the slate clean you get a remarkable picture."

"Germany will be left with only $500,000,000 sterling of internal debt, which is 48 per cent. France will be left with approximately $2,500,000,000 of debt, or 456 sterling per head. Great Britain, after allowing for wiping out the United States debt, will be left with $6,600,000,000, or 1550 sterling per head, and the United States, with the next largest debt, will be left with an internal debt of $3,200,000,000, or 27 pounds sterling per head."

"It is quite clear that Germany can pay something."

In Favor Of Union

Manitoba Liberals Endorse Proposal Of Union Government For Manitoba

Winnipeg, Man.—Action of Dr. Murdoch Mackay, Provincial Liberal Leader in approving Premier Bracken's proposal of a Union Government for Manitoba was endorsed by the Manitoba Liberal Association at its annual meeting here. Sharp opposition to the merger of the Liberal and Progressive forces in the Province was expressed but the proposal carried on a standing vote and an amendment to give it the traditional six-months' hiatus was defeated.

Premier Bracken some months ago invited the Liberal, Conservative and Labor opposition groups in the legislature to join in the formation of a union government with cabinet representation for all. The invitation was rejected by the Conservative and Labor wings of the Opposition but accepted on behalf of the Liberals by Dr. MacKay who defended his stand at the convention, and was endorsed.

Reduction Of Time

C.N.R. Shops To Operate On Shorter Hours For Three Months

Montreal, Que.—During January, February and March the principal shops of the Canadian National Railways will operate on a five-day week for three weeks of each month, commencing with the first Monday of every month, it was announced by S. J. Hungerford, vice-president in charge of operation. Including laborers and clerks, the personnel concerned will number about 10,000 men. Previous to the beginning of this year the shops had been on a 36-hour week and the new time arrangement of 40 hours per week for three weeks each month will bring about a reduction of approximately four days per month in working time.

Rumor Is Denied

Edmonton, Alberta.—Rumors that Premier Brownlee will sever connections with the Alberta for an Ottawa post are not treated with much consideration here. The legislature is due to open February 4. There is, no even indication of a cabinet shake-up.

JAPAN'S "OLD FOX" AND FAMILY

Here is the first intimate photograph of M. Iwayoshi Inukai, new Premier of Japan, made as the statesman sat in his family circle, at their home in Tokyo. Left to right are Mrs. Iwayoshi Inukai, Premier Inukai, Mrs. Nakakono, his daughter-in-law, and one of the Premier's many grandchildren. The venerable statesman rarely has the opportunity for family reunions when he is directing his country's Manchurian policy, so this photo may be regarded as distinctly unusual.

Cannot Hold Two Positions

Civil Servants Forbidden To Accept Municipal Appointments

Ottawa, Ont.—"The Government has decided to allow Controllers Fulgence Charpentier and Daniel McCann to remain at their posts in the public service, and also serve on the Board of Control for the balance of the year but will issue an order forbidding all government servants in future to accept municipal appointments," the Journal says.

"The decision of the government forbidding all government employees throughout the country from accepting municipal positions is of widespread interest as it takes in every section of the country."

"It is definitely understood the order forbidding government employees to accept municipal positions is a general one so that it will affect postmasters serving in rural municipalities and all others paid from the Federal Treasury who add the affairs of their community to their official duties."

"It is not expected the government's decision will affect municipal positions which are not elective and where no fees or salaries are paid such as on suburban roads commissions or on school boards."

"It is understood the aim of this cabinet is to prevent civil servants from drawing two salaries and also having their working hours interfered with by outside matters."

No Sunday Shows

Drop Proposal To Hold Moving Picture Shows On Sunday In Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Man.—Proposal to hold Sunday moving picture shows here, with revenues to be used for relief of unemployed, has been dropped. Mayor Ralph H. Webb said. Opposition to the plan had been expressed by so many citizens, the mayor said, that he doubted if even the financial returns would be worthwhile.

Collections were to be taken at the theatres, four of which would put on shows Sunday nights after church services were over.

More People Employed

Ottawa, Ont.—Employment in Canada during 1931, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was generally higher than for the six-year period 1921 to 1926 although lower than in the last four years. Returns made to the Bureau showed a monthly average of 927,485 workers during 1931.

Large Sums Are Still Owing By Germany, France And Belgium Claim

Governor-General Postpones Visit

Trip To Western Canada Will Be Made Next Autumn

Ottawa, Ont.—The Governor-General has postponed until next autumn his trip through western Canada. It was announced Wednesday night, January 13, at Rideau Hall. Originally planned for the spring, the trip will be made in time to enable Lord Bessborough to attend the Canadian Pacific Exhibition in Vancouver next fall.

Except for one or two brief excursions to Toronto and Montreal, the Governor-General and Lady Bessborough will remain in Ottawa for the parliamentary session. It will be the first session opened officially by Lord Bessborough.

Lady Bessborough will leave for England at the end of February for a short visit. Subject to the date, the Ottawa Imperial Conference, the Governor-General expects to take up his summer residence in Quebec City at the beginning of June.

Ex-Kaiser's Sister Dies

Former Queen Sophie Of Greece Succumbs To Lingering Illness

Frankfurt-On-Main, Germany.—Former Queen Sophie of Greece, sister of former Kaiser Wilhelm, died at a clinic here after a lingering illness from cancer. She was 61 years old.

The one-time queen of the Hellenes, had lived in Florence, Italy, since the death of her husband, King Constantine, in exile at Palermo on January 11, 1923. She came to Frankfurt last November to seek the advice of a specialist, who operated on November 12, but found her ailment too far advanced for successful treatment.

During the last week, she underwent a series of relapses. Her children, George, Paul, Helen—Queen of Roumania—and Irene, were called to the bedside each time.

Plane Makes First Trip

Winnipeg, Man.—With Pilot A. E. Westergaard at the controls, the huge Junkers' air-freight monoplane, J-52, took off from Stevenson Field, January 14, and headed for Cold Lake, Northern Manitoba mining centre, fifty miles north-east of The Pas. It marked the first commercial flight for the huge 'plane, aptly named the 'Flying Box-Car.'

Union Government For Three Prairie Provinces Is Proposed

Winnipeg, Man.—Canada's prairie west gnawed Thursday night, Jan. 14, on a new economic morsel, thrown to it by the Progressive Premier, Manitoba, Hon. John Bracken, from the sick-room here where he is confined with a severe cold.

It was a suggestion that this province take the lead in bringing about amalgamation of the governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta into a single unit to administer government for all three provinces. The saving would be "millions of dollars" within a few years, Premier Bracken said.

An indication that the scheme had received consideration at the last inter-provincial conference at Edmonton two weeks ago, was given by Premier J. T. Anderson, head of Saskatchewan's Co-Operative Government, in commenting at Regina on the Bracken proposal. "Personal opinions expressed there were favorable," he remarked.

The Edmonton conference was attended by Mr. Anderson, Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta, and Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General for Manitoba. Thursday, Jan. 14, Premier Bracken said. "The proposal was discussed and undoubtedly it has certain attractions the chief of them being the savings that would result from one administration instead of three."

He thought the saving might run from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 a year in government administration on the prairie. Principally, however, the advantage would be that the prairies would speak with one voice on all

Paris, France.—European governments are drawing up varied reparations balance sheets with which to confront Germany when she faces the former allies once again at Lausanne on January 25.

Since the armistice Germany has paid $4,828,000,000, if the figures of the reparations commission are accepted, but Germany maintains that she has paid something like $9,119,000,000. No official statement exists. The other two powers which are most interested—France and Belgium—contend that they have not been paid enough to cover the actual damage to property by the German armies.

Belgium says she is still $100,000,000 short, and her 1931 budget shows $670,000 expended for rehabilitation of damaged areas as of December 31, 1931, while only $570,000 were received from Germany as of June, 1931.

France says it is even worse off. Germany still owes the French $2,838,000,000 for reconstruction, the 1932 budget shows, as of April 1, 1931. France paid out in repairing war damages $3,915,000,000 and there remained $200,000,000 to pay.

Berlin, Germany.—Report, purporting to come from government circles that Germany would be willing to compromise on the question of reparations payments, were characterized as "pure nonsense" by a government spokesman today.

The government's viewpoint that it is unable to pay, was "clearly laid down," he said, in Chancellor Brüning's statement of January 9.

Urges Indians To Disobey

British Girl Says Gandhi's Campaign Should Be Carried On

Ahmedabad, India.—Miss Madeline Slade, daughter of a British admiral, has made a plea to Indian Nationalists to carry on the civil disobedience campaign of Mahatma Gandhi.

"Now that Gandhi's voice is silenced behind prison walls," she said, "it is all the more our sacred duty to carry out his dearest wish—spinning and weaving homespun."

Pish Papers Suppressed

Warsaw, Poland.—Several provincial newspapers were suppressed for publishing a report that the verdict of the trial court at Brest Litovsk, where 10 deputies and former deputies were sentenced to prison terms on charge of sedition, was not unanimous.

Union Government For Three Prairie Provinces Is Proposed

Dominion matters, whereas now they sometimes speak with different voices owing to the political views held by the three governments."

Premier Bracken's suggestion, made in a statement which he issued at his home and prompted by the action Wednesday, Jan. 13, of a special committee of the Manitoba legislature on redistribution in giving unfavorable consideration to a proposal that the number of legislative seats be reduced from 55 to 35, marked the first serious expression of opinion by a western government head on a proposal strongly supported a year ago by farm bodies in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Just two months ago Mr. Bracken remarked "interesting if feasible" when the suggestion was advanced by A. J. MacAuley, president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, at the annual convention of United Farmers of Manitoba.

In his statement, addressed to the committee on redistribution, the Premier expressed disappointment that the seat reduction plan had been turned down. Cost of the next legislative session "must be reduced," he declared.

"Personally I would like to see the committee go even further in the direction of economy than has been proposed," the statement noted. In proposing that it consider a one-prairie government plan, Mr. Bracken said he thought its operation would be particularly advantageous to western Canada during the present depression.

NOTES AND COMMENTS*"St. George for Merrie England, St. Andrew for the Scot."

So runs an old rhyme. But after attending the Burns anniversary organized by the local Caledonian Society, we came to the conclusion that the poet Burns occupies a more prominent place in the heart and mind of the average Scot than does Saint Andrew. St. Patrick for "Ould Oireland" cannot be denied first place, but to the Sassenach it would appear that Burns and Saint Andrew have about a 50-50 place in Scottish lore, with Sir Harry Lauder a good third.

Pride of race is characteristic of virile people, and it is justifiable. Take for instance in sports. Golf originated in Scotland, as also did curling, and if imitation is the most sincere form of flattery then Scotland has been honored beyond measure. Last week, the Grand Challenge competition in the Crows Nest Pass bonspiel, was won by a native son of Italy who now owes allegiance to Canada; he winning out after a very close game with a rink the members of which all talked with a pronounced "burr."

Though losing, the Scottish skip was the first to congratulate his opposing skip and players. It indicated that though beaten at his own game, he could extend the hand of good fellowship and sportsmanship. That constitutes greatness!

The United Farmers of Alberta met last week for their annual convention. Judging from the news reports, a number of half-baked resolutions came to grief, but a number will prove of value. In a gathering such as this, where every delegate has a right to speak, there are bound to be impulsive speakers who do not give serious thought to their utterances. It is very much like a man called on without warning to speak at a public gathering; he reels off the first thing that comes to mind, which usually amounts to very little. There is always a lot of time absolutely wasted at conventions, yet in a country which prides itself on democracy, how can it be otherwise? Even democracy has its weak spots, but it appears to be the best system for enabling people to live happily together.

The great need in business is spiritual understanding, states William Green, in the American Federationist. He states:

"Statesmen and business men are groping for the way out. From everywhere come plans—new mechanisms. But the root of the trouble lies deep as the spirit of men. We have organized our human relations, which constitute the fabric of society, without studying or understanding man. We have used as a basic principle that an individual or a group can be advanced at the expense of others in the same field. Quite the contrary is true. The basic law of human relations is that each man is his brother's keeper. The well-being of each individual and each group is interdependent upon the well-being of others."

"The underlying law is the new commandment formulated by Christ over nineteen centuries ago—a commandment to love a neighbor as ourselves. This new commandment states the basic law of human relations which should guide all of our relationships, without which we cannot have material wealth or lasting cultural and spiritual power."

"Until we stop trying to separate the principles of Christianity from business dealings, until an employer scrupulously gives his humblest employee all that he has honestly earned, we shall have injustice, unrest, and all the evils born of them. The most practical, enriching experience that business holds comes from organized efforts for cooperation of the whole work group—the sharing of information, the fusion of effort, the spirit to make improvements, the will to share justly and equitably the returns from joint efforts."

"The real cause of our economic debacle is dishonesty—conscious or unconscious. Employers or investors who took advantage of their position to protect their interests at the expense of others—declaring high dividends and stock dividends and leaving workers' incomes insecure and low, those who hoped to make fortunes by speculation, those who did not give honest service, have all contributed to our present economic unrest."

"Our economic structure is no stronger than its weakest link; our national life is no more enduring than the standards that determine relations between men; individual development depends upon capacity for spiritual understanding and progress."

With the taking over of police duties of the province by the R. C. M. P., it should be impressed on the authorities that Coleman requires a detachment. From 1903 till 1923 a police detachment was stationed here, and there is quite as much reason for a detachment now as at that time. Business men should lose no time in seeing that action is taken.

Here and There

In 1930 the Canadian Pacific Railway paid out in taxes in Canada $7,447,805 and for the year 1931 its taxes will run to over $7,500,000. This brings the company's total tax payments in Canada from its incorporation to date to more than $121,000,000.

Jim London, world heavyweight wrestling champion, on a recent trip into the New Brunswick woods, bagged a black bear, weighing 800 lbs. The animal, wounded by two shots, charged London who dropped his rifle and resorted to a knife, with which he killed the bear.

Nova Scotia is coming into its own as a holiday province. In 1931 more than a quarter of a million tourists visited the province, the largest number of summer visitors in its history, according to records by Hon. P. C. Black, provincial Minister of Highways.

To have joined the Canadian Pacific Railway at the time of its organization in 1881 and in the next seven years to have examined more men for promotion to engineer rank, than any other employee of the company, is the outstanding record of Albin Haynes, of Toronto, who has just retired from the position of Rule Examiner for the Motive Power department at Montreal.

The Brockville Recorder in a recent editorial urges all Canadians who are figuring on holidaying outside the Dominion this winter to consider the advantages of British Columbia where the Canadian dollar stands at par and where the climate is the equal of any to be found in the United States. Great Britain, the editorial adds, has set the example for Britishers which Canadians should be patriotic enough to follow.

The high reputation of Canada for the pacific settlement of disputes with foreign powers is an example that exerts considerable influence in the councils of the League of Nations and indicates that the Dominion should play an important part in the coming disarmament conference at London, says Colonel David Currie, C. B. E., noted lecturer on the promotion of peace, who recently sailed for Great Britain aboard the Duchess of Richmond.

Beginning their first Canadian tour, the ski teams of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, arriving at Halifax by Canadian Pacific steamship Montcalm, went on via Montreal to Lucerne in Quebec and from there went to St. Marguerite in the Laurentians where they will contest against each other and with Canadian universities. The teams were welcomed at the Windsor station, Montreal by Lord Dunsannon, son of the Governor General, himself an under-achiever in bridge.

Local Retailers== They owe You Sales Assistance!

You know thoroughly well that you have power, in your store, to influence the decision of your customers in regard to what they buy from you. Your customers rely on you to give them products which, in use or consumption, will give them complete satisfaction.

You know and your customers know that, in regard to nearly every class of product, there are several brands of equal merit. Thus, A's soup is equal to B's or C's soup; D's shoes are equal to E's or F's shoes; G's radio sets are the equal of H's or I's sets; J's hosiery is the equal of K's or L's hosiery; M's electric washing machine or refrigerator is the equal of N's or O's washing machine or refrigerator; and so on and so on.

Makers of advertised products recognize that you have access to the attention and favor of several hundred buyers—your regular and irregular customers, and they want to use your distribution facilities for their advantage. But are they willing, in every instance, to assist you to sell their product if you stock it—assist you with a series of local advertisements, to be published in this newspaper?

They say that they will provide you with plenty of window and counter display material, and printed matter; but quite often they decline to use local advertising, in this newspaper, over your name!

They tell you that they are spending a whale of a lot of money in big-city dailies and in nationally-circulated magazines; but YOU know—or can get to know—that in the territory served by this newspaper upwards of 90 per cent of the families living in it do not subscribe to national magazines and big city dailies. This means that the job of promoting local sales is to be put on YOUR shoulders.

If it is right to use big city dailies and nationally circulated magazines, then by the same token, it is right to use local weekly newspapers. It is no compliment to you as a retailer or to the buyers of this town or territory for a national advertiser to decline to advertise his product in this newspaper.

You can get much more advertising for your store and stock than you are now getting, if you insist, as a condition of stocking a particular product, that it be locally advertised in this newspaper.

(N.B.: SHOW THIS ADVERTISEMENT TO MEN WHO URGE YOU TO STOCK AND PUSH THE SALE OF THEIR GOODS, YET WHO TELL YOU THAT THEIR FIRM CANNOT ASSIST THEIR LOCAL SALE BY ADVERTISING.

Better Business Ahead Says Beatty And Canada is Ready to Move Forward

Canadian Pacific President Issues His Annual Review of Economic Conditions and the Outlook for Future Development and Progress in this Country.

BETTER business this year, says E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in his annual review of Canadian business for 1931. A condensed report of the review is as follows:

Mr. E. W. Beatty
Chairman and President
Canadian Pacific Ry.

"Seriously affected by world conditions as Canada may appear to be, there is no country of the same or anything like the same comparative importance in world affairs that is less affected basically by the conditions that have brought financial disaster to the great nations of Europe and to the United States.

"Economic depression has reached its most pronounced stages in those countries more highly industrialized. Therein lies one of the reasons why Canada has experienced less dislocation than some others, and is in a better position to register a rapid return to normal conditions. Having its economic base still very largely in the development of raw materials, Canada has less difficulty to travel along the road to re-establishment, and there are credible reasons for believing we have gone some way that in that direction. Thus we say that Canada the year 1931 has been one of re-organization and reconstruction.

"The railway situation has moved into recognition as Canada's most imperative domestic problem. Its causes, complexities and possible solution are now being probed by a most competent tribunal, the appointment of which at this time was an act of common sense and courage. The Canadian people will present to an interested world renewed evidence of the qualities if they give their confidence to that tribunal and meet its suggested solutions with considerations of economic value unobscured by political color or preconceived prejudice.

"The nation, its various communities, many of its business institutions and no small number of its individuals have been ordered their affairs as though the way to enduring prosperity lay through extravagant expenditure with little or no thought of stability of investment or profitable return thereon. Thus as a nation we are faced with debts that must be paid. I know of no way of meeting them other than by hard work and strict economy. Of expenditure leading to the opening up of undeveloped business or lowering of production costs there can be no just criticism at any time, nor should the railways be blamed too carelessly for having looked ahead and prepared their facilities so that future business reasonably assured might be adequately taken care of.

"The Canadian Pacific, for instance, has no apologies to offer for any of the more recent important additions and improvements it has made to its services. The "Empress of Britain" built largely to develop a new class of deluxe American travel for the Canadian route to Europe has justified our best expectations, and up to the end of the world-cruise in April next a reasonably good profit on her operations is assured. The Royal York Hotel at Toronto has also done very well considering existing conditions and the need for such a convenience for the traveling public in that city is just as great now as when the announcement of its building was so enthusiastically hailed. It is upon such forward moves as these that Canadian development must ever be predicated. If the original vision of the Canadian Pacific had been held up until existing traffic justified its operation would now be decades behind its present position.

"Over the past year railways have been more adversely affected by the general trade contraction than has any other branch of industry. A 22 1/2 per cent decrease in Canadian Pacific gross revenue for the first ten months of the year is symptomatic of these conditions.

"The fact that we were able to effect a 19 1/2 per cent saving in operating costs over the same period is an indication of the high standard of efficiency at which the property has been maintained. One directly in which we were not able to make reductions was that of taxes which will run this year to $7,500,000. Since its incorporation the company has contributed over $121,000,000 to Canada's tax collections. Under diverse conditions of which an unusually forced standard of competition was not a small part, the company carried out its services in a manner calculated to retain the confidence of the Canadian people. This is shown by the fact that since September, 1929, the number of its Canadian shareholders has grown from 21,855 to 35,775, an increase of 9,530, bringing the Canadian holdings up to over 46 per cent of the total number of shareholders.

"It was recently a most encouraging experience to me to go through Western Canada and witness the courageous manner in which westerners are facing the situation. Any idea that the West is giving itself up to self-pity on the score that its future as an agricultural country is doomed should be abandoned forthwith. As a whole that country is not doing too badly, and its people are firm in their well justified knowledge that they are going to do as well as ever in the not too distant future. The most seriously affected area comprises but 20 to 25 per cent of the West, and over the remaining conditions are at least fair to good. Great encouragement has resulted from recent advances in wheat prices, and since the statistical position of that grain in world markets is undoubtedly strong, higher prices and a reasonably good demand are not unlikely over the coming year. Intelligent interest in improved methods and lower cost of production as well as in the all-important matter of future diversification of farming is general. This and the fact that Western Canada has again shown that it can produce the world's best in both grain and livestock is enough guarantee of that country's future. Eastern Canada has no less reason to view its agricultural destiny with confidence. Production and export of livestock and dairy products have increased and the fruit crops of Ontario and Nova Scotia are meeting with excellent markets abroad.

"An important increase in gold production, some improvement in the demand for lumber, an increase over the year in the volume of tourist traffic, a more satisfactory balance of foreign trade, and latterly a noticeable betterment in many lines of retail business are most encouraging factors in the general situation.

"It would be a bold man who would make any prophecy as to what is going to happen during the coming year. And yet I think it requires neither boldness nor second sight to justify the assumption that 1932 will, as it progresses, show marked improvement upon its predecessor.

"It is an old saying, of recent years brought into mind, that one thing greatly to be desired is more business in government and less government in business. The period of economic stress has done more to prove the truth of that statement than anything else could have done, and I find that a large and growing number of the Canadian people are accepting that fact as being abundantly established by the course of economic events through which we are passing. Under stress of war necessities it became the government's job to supervise practically everything economic that was carried on. In many cases supervision became actual operation. The natural result was that people and institutions began to look to government for the inspiration and direction which they themselves could have given much better had they carried forward their enterprises on business principles the efficiency of which have been proven through ages of stress and strain.

"The success which attended the flotation of the National Service Loan should be as reassuring to Canadians of the sound basis upon which their economic affairs stand as it has been to the world at large. Readiness with which our people were able to absorb the new bond issue established the fact that a surprisingly large amount of Canada's wealth was in liquid form and that the Canadian people had no hesitation in placing it at the country's service. The Canadian dollar has gone considerably below par in most of the world's money markets, an effect of world conditions which carries its own remedy in that it is calculated to encourage a more favorable balance of foreign trade. It has also contributed as an inducement to manufacturers from other countries to establish factories within our borders. Since August, 1930, approximately 125 new industries from Great Britain and the United States have been organized or are now in the process of organization.

"Ultimate results following upon the recent British elections are likely to be far-reaching in their relation to Canadian economic affairs. Important extension of our trade with Great Britain seems assured, and it may be expected that the holding of the forthcoming Imperial Conference in this country will profoundly influence the course of Canadian economic development over the next few years. The Empire will be brought to a new realization of what Canada has to offer in the way of natural resources and opportunity for profitable investment, and the country will step once again into the forefront as a land towards which the most desirable class of immigration and settlement should properly flow."

Canada Grain Exports
Greatest Percentage Of Empire Wheat Sold On World Market Supplied By Canada
Canada exports about 78 per cent. of all the wheat sold in the world market each year by the British Empire. It is computed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Similarly, Australia exports 18.4 per cent. and British India, 2.2 per cent.

In a report dealing with wheat statistics, the bureau places the average annual consumption of wheat in Great Britain at 244,330,000 bushels. Of this total, home production accounts for 49,261,000 bushels, leaving the balance imported. Canada's average export is 257,863,000 bushels—13,524,000 bushels in excess of Great Britain's annual consumption—Australia's export, 64,776,000 bushels, British India, 7,510,000 bushels, and other Empire countries, 563,000 bushels.

Included in the report are figures showing the Dominions export about three times the total of wheat flour imported annually by Great Britain. The average consumption in Great Britain is placed at 5,874,000 barrels, while the average export in Canada is 9,509,000 barrels, Australia 5,110,000 barrels and British India 629,800 barrels.

The committee consists of Hon. J. F. Bryant, Dr. T. A. Patrick and Dr. W. D. Cowan. The committee have been busy engaged for over two months in reading carefully the latest authorities on the subject, and in order to get the very latest information with particular reference to Saskatchewan conditions, have written to some of the world's greatest authorities on the subject, including C. E. P. Brooks, Honorary Secretary of the Royal Meteorological Society, London, England, Elsworth Huntington, Dr. Andrew E. Douglass of the University of Arizona, the Carnegie Institute of Washington, and A. J. Conner, Climatologist for Canada. We have written to the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States and of the States of Montana and North Dakota, inquiring whether they have made any investigation of the subject and requesting that they join with us in the matter of research, so that we can share in the results obtained, and take united action to combat conditions if deemed advisable.

Mr. F. E. Clements in a very able work on "Plant Indicators" makes certain observations on conditions in the western United States which are equally applicable to conditions in Saskatchewan.

"A study of settlement in the West since 1865 reveals the fact that it corresponds more or less closely to the climatic cycle. The exceptions are afforded by the rapid rush after the homestead act, the Klondike Act, etc., or after the opening of new regions. The general movement of settlers has advanced and receded in almost perfect agreement with the wet phases and drought periods of the climatic cycle. (of Brueckner, Huntington, 1914: 89). A few years of unusual rainfall have afforded unscrupulous real estate dealers and immigration commissioners opportunity to dispose of even the most worthless land. The ensuing drought period then led to crop failure and the wholesale abandonment of the region, to be followed by another influx of settlers during the next wet phase. In more than one region of the West this process has been repeated three or four times, and its disastrous operation will continue until the States and the National Government recognize the necessity of proper land classification and of adequate regulation of settlement.

"The knowledge that drought periods will recur is indispensable to any accurate and successful classification of land and to the economic management of dry-farm grazing range, or forest. These results, which are of the first importance for the west, do not depend necessarily upon the accuracy of predictions based upon the sun-spot cycle. They are clearly indicated by the actual experience of the last 50 years, which not only confirms the recurrence of drought periods, but also suggests the interval. However, it is clear that it would be of the greatest value to be able to forecast the date, duration, and intensity of each drought period with some accuracy, as well as to anticipate the increasing rainfall of the wet phase. This would not only permit the taking of the necessary precautions against the disasters due to drought, but it would also make possible the development of an optimum system of management. This would enable the farmer to fit his crops and methods of tillage to the variations in rainfall and would permit the stockman to increase or decrease his herds or to vary his supplies of forage with any of the phases of the cycle. In short, the cycle management of all the basic practices of the West would provide the maximum insurance against loss or disaster and would afford the greatest possible annual returns."

COFFEE CAKE

1 cup sugar.
1 cup raisins.
½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup.
1 egg.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
2 cups flour.
½ cup Mazola.
½ cup strong coffee.
1 teaspoon soda.
½ teaspoon nutmeg.

Beat eggs and sugar until very light, then add the syrup and stir in the flour sifted with the other dry ingredients and mixed with the creamed and dried raisins. Then add coffee with the Mazola and bake in a rather quick oven until the cake leaves the sides of the pan.

DELICIOUS CREAM COOKIES

1 cup Mazola.
4 beaten eggs.
1 cup nut meats.
½ cup chopped raisins.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
4 cups flour.
2 cups brown sugar.
½ cup sweet cream.
½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup.
1 teaspoon Lemon Essence.
1 teaspoon salt.
½ cup Benson's Corn Starch.
4 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream the Mazola with the sugar and then add the eggs and beat until light. Mix the cream with the corn syrup and add to the batter alternately with the dry ingredients sifted together and mixed with the nuts and raisins. Flavour and drop by spoonful on buttered baking pans and cook in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit).

YOUR NEW SLIP TAKES ON NEW LINES

Here's a slimming costume slip that Paris has designed along the latest fashion line.

The interesting cut of the moulded bodice extending into a deep point at the front, proves a particularly flattering feature and gives lengthened line. The skirt being circular, falls so gracefully beneath the similar circular flaring hemline of the back. The hem of the slip may be rolled by hand, which gives it a French finish or it may be finished professionally with pleated-edge. Lace edging provides a dainty trim which may also trim the upper edge of the bodice.

It can easily be made in a hour or possibly two. And the cost will prove surprisingly small.

Style No. 228 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100.

Creme de chine and flat crepe silk are popularly used for the excellent service they give.

Recurrence Of Drought Periods

Practical Research Will Assist In Acquiring Better Knowledge Of Climatic Conditions

The Hon. J. F. Bryant, K.C., chairman of the Saskatchewan Commission on Conservation of Water and Afforestation, issued the following statement to the press today.

Believing that a mistake had been made in the past in Saskatchewan and Western Canada in that no systematic or practical research had been carried on in the matter of climate and weather conditions, particularly when the farmers who are the backbone of the Province have suffered so much as a result of drought, frost and flood, and when through the lack of practical knowledge on the subject, on account of drought conditions during the past few years, a large fertile area of southern Saskatchewan has been badly injured by the blowing of the soil, the Commission on Conservation appointed a sub-committee to study weather conditions, climate, rainfall and water supply in their relationship to all external causes and factors operating in the drought areas of the Province and surrounding territory.

The committee consists of Hon. J. F. Bryant, Dr. T. A. Patrick and Dr. W. D. Cowan. The committee have been busy engaged for over two months in reading carefully the latest authorities on the subject, and in order to get the very latest information with particular reference to Saskatchewan conditions, have written to some of the world's greatest authorities on the subject, including C. ½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup.
1 egg.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
2 cups flour.
½ cup Mazola.
½ cup strong coffee.
1 teaspoon soda.
½ teaspoon nutmeg.

Beat eggs and sugar until very light, then add the syrup and stir in the flour sifted with the other dry ingredients and mixed with the creamed and dried raisins. Then add coffee with the Mazola and bake in a rather quick oven until the cake leaves the sides of the pan.

1 cup Mazola.
4 beaten eggs.
1 cup nut meats.
½ cup chopped raisins.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
4 cups flour.
2 cups brown sugar.
½ cup sweet cream.
½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup.
1 teaspoon Lemon Essence.
1 teaspoon salt.
½ cup Benson's Corn Starch.
4 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream the Mazola with the sugar and then add the eggs and beat until light. Mix the cream with the corn syrup and add to the batter alternately with the dry ingredients sifted together and mixed with the nuts and raisins. Flavour and drop by spoonful on buttered baking pans and cook in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit).

CHAPTER XI.

"The Sins Of The Fathers—"

A few days later, Jean, coming in from a long tramp across country in company with Nick and a half a dozen dogs of various breeds, discovered Tormarin lounging in a chair by the fire. He was in riding kit, having just returned from visiting an outlying corner of the estates where his bailiff had suggested that a new plantation might be made, and Jean eyed his long supple figure with secret approval. Like most well-bred Englishmen, he looked his best in kit that demanded the donning of breeches and leggings.

A fine rain was falling out of doors, and beads of moisture clung to Jean's clothes and sparkled in the downy tendrils of russet hair which had escaped from beneath the little turban hat she was wearing. Apparently, however, her appearance did not rouse Tormarin to any reciprocal appreciation, for, after bestowing the briefest of glances upon her as she entered, he averted his eyes, concentrating his attention upon the misty ribands of smoke that drifted upwards from his cigarette.

Jean knelt down on the hearth, and, pulling off her rain-soaked gloves, held out her hands to the fire's cheerful blaze.

"It's good-bye to all the skating, I'm afraid," she said regretfully. "Nick says we're not likely to have another hard frost like the last, now that the weather has broken so completely."

"No. It's April next month—supposedly springtime, you know," returned Blaise indifferently.

He seemed disinclined to talk, and Jean eyed him contemplatively. His attitude towards her baffled her as much as ever. He was unfavourably courteous and considerate, but he remained, nevertheless, unmistakably aloof, avoiding her whenever it was possible, and when it was not, treating her with a cool neutrality of manner that was as complete a contrast to her demeanour when they were together at Montava as could well be imagined. Indeed, sometimes Jean almost wondered if the events of that day they spent amid the snows had really taken place—they seemed so far away, so entirely unrelated to her present life, notwithstanding the fact that she was in daily contact with the man who had shared them with her.

"It was rather uncomplimentary of you not to come skating with us a solitary once," she remarked at last, an accent of reproach in her voice. "Was my performance on the rink at Montava so execrable that you felt you couldn't risk it again?"

He looked up, his glance meeting hers levelly.

"You've phrased it excellently," he replied briefly. "I felt I couldn't risk it."

A sudden flush mounted to Jean's face. There was no misunderstanding the significance that underlay the curt words, which, as she was vibrantly aware, bore no relation whatever to her skill, or absence of it, on the ice.

Blaise made no endeavour to relieve the awkward silence that ensued. Instead, his eyes rested upon her with a somewhat quizzical expression, as though he were rather entertained than felt her indignation rising.

"It is fortunate that other people are not so nervous," she said disdaintfully. "Otherwise I should find myself as isolated as a fever hospital."

"It is fortunate indeed," he agreed politely.

In the course of the three weeks which had elapsed since her arrival at Staple, Jean had dared several similar passages-at-arms with her host. Woman-like, she was bent on getting behind his guard of reticence, on forcing him into an explanation of his altered attitude towards her—since no woman can be expected to endure that a man should completely change from ill-suppervised ardour to a cool impersonal detachment of manner, without asking to know the reason why. But in every instance Tormarin had carried off the honours of war, parrying her small thrusts with a laity insouciance which she found galling in the extreme.

Hitherto she had encountered little difficulty in getting pretty much her own way with the men of her acquaintance; she had sufficient of the temperance and charm of the red-haired type to compass that. But her efforts to elucidate the cause of the change in Blaise Tormarin were about as prolific of result as the efforts of a butterfly at stone-breaking.

Fortunately for the preservation of peace, at this juncture there came the sound of voices, and Lady Anne entered the room, accompanied by a visitor. Her clever, grey eyes flashed quickly from Jean's flushed face to that of her son, but, if she sensed the electricity in the atmosphere, she made no comment.

"Blaise, my dear, here is Judith," she said pleasantly. "I found her wandering forlornly in the lanes, so I brought her home."

He eyed her contemptuously. His attitude towards her baffled her as much as ever. He was unfavourably courteous and considerate, but he remained, nevertheless, unmistakably aloof, avoiding her whenever it was possible, and when it was not, turned from town, and for some reason her car was not at the station to meet her.

"I wired home saying what time I should reach Coombe Exe," exclaimed the new-comer. "But as I was rather late reaching Waterloo, I rashly entrusted the wire to a small boy to send off for me, and I'm afraid he played me false. I should have had to trudge the whole way back to Willow Ferry if Lady Anne hadn't happened along."

Lady Anne turned to Jean, and, laying an affectionate hand on her arm, drew her forward.

"Jean, let me introduce you to Mrs. Craig. My new acquisition, Judith," she went on contentedly. "A daughter. I always told you I wanted one. Now I've borrowed someone's else's." Jean found herself shaking hands with a slender distinctive-looking woman who moved with a slow languorous grace that was almost snake-like in its peculiar suppleness. She gave one the impression that she had no bones in her body, or that if she had, they had never hardened properly but still retained the pliability of cartilage.

She was somewhat sallow — the consequence, it transpired later, of long residence in India — with sullen, slate-coloured eyes, appearing almost purple in shadow, and a straight, thin-lipped mouth. Jean decided that she was not in the least pretty, though attractive in an odd, feline way, and that she must be about thirty-two. As a matter of fact, Judith Craig was forty, but no one would have guessed it — and she would certainly not have conceded it.

Presently Nick, who had been previously supervising the feeding of his beloved dogs, joined the party, greeting Mrs. Craig with the easy informality of an old friend, and shortly afterwards Blaise brought in the tea-things.

"And where is Blaise?" enquired Blaise of Mrs. Craig, as he handed her tea. "Didn't he come back with you?"

"Geoffrey? Oh, no. He's not coming down till the end of April. You know he detests Willow Ferry in the winter—'beastly wet swamp,' he calls it! He's dividing his time between London and Leicestershire—London, while that long frost stopped all hunting."

Mrs. Craig was evidently on a footing of long-established intimacy with the Staple household, and Jean, listening quietly to the interchange of news and of little personal happenings, regarded her with rather critical interest. She was not altogether sure that she liked her, but she was quite sure that, wherever she had been, she had been a success. Her face might be cast, Judith Craig would never occupy the position of a non-entity. She had considerable charm of manner, and there was a quite unexpected fascination about her smile — unexpected, because, when in repose, her thin lips lay folded together in a straight and somewhat forbidding line, whereas the moment they relaxed into a smile they assumed the most delightful curves, and two little lines, which should have been dimples but were not, cleft each cheek on either side of the mouth.

All at once Mrs. Craig turned to Jean as though she had made up her mind about something over which she had been hesitating.

"Have I seen you anywhere before?" she asked, her charming smile softening the abruptness of the question. "Your face is so extraordinarily familiar."

Jean shook her head. "I don't think so," she answered. "I'm sure I should remember you if we met anywhere. Besides I've lived abroad all my life; this is only my first visit to England."

"I think I can explain," said Lady Anne. There was a deliberateness about her manner that suggested she was about to make a statement which she was aware would be of some special interest to at least one of the party. "Jean is Glyn Peterson's daughter; so of course you see a likeness, Judith."

Incident of Laura Secord

Explanation of Omission of Narrative From Ontario Text Books

Omission of the story of Laura Secord from Ontario public and high school history and text books is the subject of a statement issued by Hon. George Henry, Premier of the Province and Minister of Education, in which he declares criticism is probably due to insufficient acquaintance with the facts.

"In the first place let me emphasize that there is no intention of disparaging this incident of the tramp of Laura Secord from Queenstown to Beaver Dams, and in the proposed revision of the third reader the officers of the department are suggesting that the story of Laura Secord be included," he says.

"The authorized text books, both public and high school, in Canadian history purposely emphasize parts of history other than was in which Canada has engaged. For this reason the War of 1812-15 has been touched upon lightly, and many stories of brave deeds have necessarily been omitted," the Premier declares. Omission of the Laura Secord exploit from the new history compiled by Professor W. S. Wallace, librarian of the University of Toronto, brought the matter into prominence.

Rapid Air Travel

From Paris to New York In Six Hours Is Now Predicted

Air speeds of 500 miles an hour, cutting the time between New York and Paris to six hours, were predicted to be within the bounds of possibility by Henry Farman, aviation pioneer, work on whose stratosphere plane is now progressing at Billancourt, France.

It will be two months still before the "mystic eight" is completed and six months before tests at gradually increasing altitudes are finished.

Farman said it is necessary to guard against "fantastic dreams," but he thought 500 miles an hour at a height of between 45,000 and 60,000 feet is theoretically possible, depending upon conditions in the stratosphere, which, he said, must be still further explored.

A Remarkable Century

Grand Old Man Of Woodstock Says

Depression Is Only Artificial

In his annual birthday message to his fellow citizens, appearing in the Sentinel Review, Rev. Dr. W. T. McMullen, Woodstock's "Grand Old Man," who recently celebrated his 101st birthday anniversary, says in part:

"The century through which I have lived is the most remarkable in all history with the exception of the first century. The Incarnation, ministry and finished work of the Saviour makes the first century the greatest of all centuries, but in point of invention, progress and general improvement the last hundred years has no parallel. When King William IV, filled the throne of Britain, when I was born, there was not a railroad in England, Scotland or Ireland. There were no steamships sailing the ocean. There were no telegraphs or telephones, no electric lighting. The postage on a letter from Canada to Britain was 25 cents.

"The present generation do not know their comforts and privileges, and yet we are passing through a time of depression, and it is purely artificial. The bounties of Divine Providence have filled to overflowing our storehouses and elevators. But the works of men have blocked the channels of trade with high tariffs, and glutted the markets with overproduction. Conditions will right themselves in due course."

Little Helps For This Week

"If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow Me."—Luke ix. 23.

Mine is a daily cross of petty cares. Of little duties pressing on my heart. Of little troubles hard to reconcile. Of inward troubles overcome in part.

I dare not lay it down; I only ask That, taking up my daily cross, I may Follow my Master, humbly, step by step, Through clouds and darkness, unto Perfect day.

Christ comes to us morning by morning to present to us for the day then opening divers little crosses, thwartings of our own will, interferences with our plans, disappointments of our little pleasures. Do we kiss them and take them up and follow Him, or, like Simon the Cyrenian, in His rear, like Simon the Cyrenian, do we toss them from us scornfully because they are so little, and wait for some great affliction to approve our patience and resignation to His will? Despise not little crosses; for when taken up and lovingly accepted at the Lord's hand, they have made men meet for a crown, even the crown of righteousness and life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love Him.—Edward Meyrick Gouldburn.

Always Ready and Reliable.—Practically all pains arising from inflammation can be removed with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Simply rub it on the sore spot, and it is quickly absorbed by the skin. Its healing power is conveyed to the inflamed tissue which is quickly soothed. This fine old remedy is also a specific for all manner of cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. Keep a bottle handy always.

LEGEND

Was she as beautiful, as glowing
As men have said?
Was she so fair that her going
Life's glamour fled?

Cast she, in truth, enchantment's magic
On those she met,
Till all their past, though glad or tragic
They would forget?

Was she so lovely sunlight darkened
When she drew near,
With voice so sweet the linnets
hearkened,
Oft fell, to hear?

Ah, could she break fond hearts
asunder
At her blithe will,
Or was she part of youth's own wonder.

Mee cherish still?

1/2 teaspoon salt	4 teaspoons Maple
2 cups pastry flour	Baking Powder
1/2 cup butter (melted)	2 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup milk, or half milk and half water

Mix together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in the chilled shortening. Pour add the melted liquid to make soft dough. Roll dough into a circular board and do not handle more than is necessary. Roll or pat out with hands to about 1/2 inch thickness. Cut out with a biscuit cutter. Place on slightly greased pan or baking sheet and bake in hot oven at 450° F. 12 to 15 minutes.

"For Light, Flaky Biscuits use Magic Baking Powder,"

says Miss M. McFarlane, dietitian of St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto

"I RECOMMEND Magic because I know it is pure, and free from harmful ingredients."

Miss McFarlane's opinion is based on a thorough knowledge of food chemistry, and on close study of food effects upon the body. On practical cooking experience, too.

Most dietitians in public institutions, like Miss McFarlane, use Magic exclusively. Because it is always uniform, dependable, and gives consistently better baking results.

And Magic is the favorite of Canadian housewives. It outshines all other baking powders combined.

You'll find Magic makes light and tender... and gives you the same perfect results every time.

"SICK HEADACHE?"

It is not necessary to give-in to headaches. It is just a bit old-fashioned! The modern woman who feels a headache coming on at any time, takes some tablets of Aspirin and heads it off.

Keep Aspirin handy, and keep your engagements. Headaches, systemic pains, come at inconvenient times. So do colds. You can end them before they're fairly started if you'll only remember this handy, harmless form of relief. Carry it in your purse and insure your comfort while shopping; your evening's pleasure at the theatre. Those little sagging eyes that bring a case of "nerves" by day are ended in a jiffy. Pains that once kept people home are forgotten half an hour after taking Aspirin. You'll find these tablets always help. In every package of Aspirin tablets are proven directions which cover colds, headaches, sore throat, toothache, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, and even rheumatism.

The tablets stamped Bayer won't fail you, and can't harm you. They don't depress the heart. They don't upset the stomach. So take them whenever you need them, and take enough to end the pain. Aspirin is made in Canada.

Quebec Beckons Winter Sports' Devotees

Winter sports in wide variety; excellent accommodation and good company are the order of the day for those who make Canada's ancient Capital, the historic city of Quebec, their winter headquarters. Here, overlooking the mighty St. Lawrence River and set in surroundings of unsurpassed beauty, is a city whose history rivals that of the most storied capitals of Europe. On the site of the residence of the French Governors stands the great Chateau Frontenac, the Canadian Pacific Railway's world-famous hotel, the hub of all activities. True to its long-established reputation, the great hospitality is giving special attention to the entertainment of its patrons and several innovations have been added to the program for their comfort. In addition to the toboggan-slide on Dufferin Terrace and the hotel's great rinks, curling rinks will be the mecca of the followers of "romie" game. The inner room of the Terrace Cafe will be devoted to a golf school under a capable "pro". There will be badminton, dancing every evening, and a costume-ball is being planned for Washington's birthday, February 22. Thus the guest that this hotel of hotels will always be assured of plenty of amusement. Skiing, tobogganing, skating, snowshoeing and sleigh-driving will all be under the capable direction of Jack Strathdee, well-known winter sports director, who already has a number of successful winter seasons at the Chateau Frontenac and elsewhere to his credit. Pictures show: the great hotel; The C.P.R. dog-sleigh and team; two fair skiers at the foot of the Champlain Monument just outside the Chateau Frontenac; and inset "Jack".
